

Allianz Global Investors Europe
Holding GmbH

Fraud Alert

Brand name Allianz Global Investors is being misused in connection with an attempted fraud

Allianz Global Investors wishes to alert its clients and potential investors that its brand name of Allianz Global Investors is being misused. The name of one of its funds, "Allianz Global Investors Fund", has been cloned and is being used in connection with offering certain financial services which are unrelated to services provided by Allianz Global Investors. The cloned company has set up a website (allianzglobalinvestorsfund.com, aginvestorsfund.com or aginvestorfund.com). This is without our authority and has no link to our Allianz Global Investors Fund and appears to be fraudulent. This website also includes a contact telephone number which is not connected to Allianz Global Investors.

We would like to inform you that Allianz Global Investors does offer products with the name of "Allianz Global Investors Fund", however, Allianz Global Investors has no connections whatsoever with the website allianzglobalinvestorsfund.com, aginvestorsfund.com or aginvestorfund.com. The products and services offered by Allianz Global Investors can be accessed through the website www.allianzglobalinvestors.eu. Anyone receiving "cold calls" in respect of Allianz Global Investors Fund should not divulge any personal data or make any payments.

You can report any attempted fraud to us at the following email address;
anti-fraud@allianzgi.com

April 2011